Challenges before the implementation of Serrala AutoBank

High manual effort: Despite a good automation rate, Unite's 5-person team faced substantial manual workloads, copying bank statement items into Excel and sending them via mail.

Limited reporting capabilities: Unite relied on Excel-based calculations due to the lack of useful reports in SAP, hindering comprehensive insights into automation rates.

Complex payment advice processing: Unite used a third-party tool with document numbers instead of real invoice numbers, requiring labor-intensive manual assignments to the company code.
